This is a great time for parents to talk to their children about the dangers of drugs and alcohol. Drugs are harmful to our youth, our families and our communities.

- It has been proven that when young people have more time on their hands, the chances they are going to experiment with drugs significantly increases.
- According to SAMHSA, an estimated 2.4 million Americans used marijuana for the first time in 2000 and unsupervised teens are three times more likely to try marijuana or other drugs.

With the school year coming to an end and summer just around the corner, it's a great time for parents to set-up a "no tolerance" drug policy within their household.

HairConfirm™ is the ideal drug testing solution for parents and individuals that want a fast and accurate hair drug test which is easy to perform and is cheat proof.
